Utopian

Dreams, Apocalyptic Nightmares Miguel López-Lozano, 2008 Utopian Dreams Apocalyptic Nightmares traces the history of utopian representations of the Americas first on the part of the colonizers who idealized the New World as an earthly paradise and later by Latin American modernizing elites who imagined Western industrialization cosmopolitanism and consumption as a utopian dream for their independent societies Carlos Fuentes Homero Aridjis Carmen Boullosa and Alejandro Morales utilize the literary genre of dystopian science fiction to elaborate on how globalization has resulted in the alienation of indigenous peoples and the deterioration of the ecology This book concludes that Mexican and Chicano perspectives on the past and the future of their societies constitute a key site for the analysis of the problems of underdevelopment social injustice and ecological decay that plague today's world Whereas utopian discourse was once used to justify colonization Mexican and Chicano writers now deploy dystopian rhetoric to interrogate projects of modernization contributing to the current debate on the global expansion of capitalism The narratives coincide in expressing confidence in the ability of Latin American and U S Latino popular sectors to claim a decisive role in the implementation of enhanced measures to guarantee an ecologically sound ethnically diverse and just society for the future of the Americas

The Shade of the

Saguaro / La sombra del saguaro. Essays on the Literary Cultures of the American Southwest / Ensayos sobre las culturas literarias del suroeste norteamericano Gaetano Prampolini, Annamaria Pinazzi, 2013 This volume springs from that fruitful project of scientific cooperation between the humanities departments of Università di Firenze and University of Arizona which was the Forum for the Study of the Literary Cultures of the Southwest 2000-2007. The cultural landscape of the Southwest presents a complex coexistence of different cultures the equal of which would be hard to find elsewhere in the United States. Of this virtually inexhaustible object of study the essays here collected tackle an ample range of themes. While the majority of them are concerned with the literatures of the Southwest still a good third falls into the fields of history, art history, ethnography, sociology or cultural studies. They are partitioned in four sections: the first three reflecting the chronology of the stratification of the three major cultures and the fourth highlighting one of the most sensitive topics in and about contemporary Southwest: the borderlands, la frontera. The Price of Silence Margaret Light, 2025-03-26 In the heart of Barcelona renowned surgeon Dr Alejandro Morales appears to lead a perfect life but an affair with the enigmatic Elena shatters his world. Elena possesses damning knowledge about Alejandro's late father, a revered doctor with a hidden history of unethical practices. As Elena's manipulation deepens Alejandro faces a harrowing choice: protect his family's legacy and his prestigious career or confront the devastating truths that could destroy both. With his marriage crumbling and the ghosts of the past haunting him Alejandro must navigate a web of secrets, betrayal and redemption in this gripping tale of ambition and consequence.

Border Theory Scott Michaelsen, David E. Johnson, 1997 Border Theory was first published in 1997. Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions.

Challenging the prevailing assumption that border studies occurs only in the borderlands where Mexico and the United States meet, the authors gathered in this volume examine the multiple borders that define the United States and the Americas, including the Mason-Dixon line, the U.S.-Canadian border, the shifting boundaries of urban diasporas, and the colonization and confinement of American Indians. The texts assembled here examine the way border studies beckons us to rethink all objects of study and intellectual disciplines as versions of a border problematic. These writers, drawn from anthropology, history, and language studies, critique the terrain, limits, and possibilities of border theory. They examine, among other topics, the soft or friendly borders produced by ethnic studies, antiassimilationist or difference multiculturalisms, liberal anthropologies, and benevolent nationalisms. Referring to a range of theory—anthropological, sociological, feminist, Marxist, European postmodernist, and poststructuralist, postcolonial, and ethnohistorical—the authors trace the genealogical and logical links between these discourses and border studies. A timely critique of a field just now revealing its explosive potential, this volume maps the intellectual topography of border theory and challenges the epistemological and political foundations of border studies. Contributors are Russ Castronovo, Elaine K. Chang, Louis Kaplan, Alejandro Lugo, Benjamin Alire Sáenz, and Patricia Seed. Scott
