Distress Reduction Through Sensory Preparation Jo Anne Horsley, 1981      Stress and Coping in Nursing Roy D. Bailey, Margaret Clarke, 2013-11-11 Increasingly stress as a concept is being used as an explanation of a wide variety of negative phenomena which are experienced by all people but which include nurses in particular and their patients Nursing has been identified as a high stress profession and one can hardly pick up a nursing journal or even read a newspaper article about nursing without finding the word stress used liberally Examples of its use are found in relation to sickness absence rates high level of nursing staff turnover discontent in nursing the effects of unemployment the effects of overwork having too much responsibility having too little responsibility or control the effects of constantly giving emotionally to others the causes of illness the effects of going into hospital delayed healing anxiety depression and alcoholism Given the heterogeneous nature of these phenomena some of which are the diametric opposite of others and that they are clearly being attributed to the one concept stress then that concept must necessarily be of importance within people's lives Or is it perhaps just a fashionable global but ultimately empty explanation Roy Bailey and I believe that stress is an extremely important concept Indeed we would argue that it is a meta concept rather than a concept which does indeed serve to explain many disparate phenomena      Evaluating Research for Evidence-Based Nursing Practice Jacqueline Fawcett, Joan Garity, 2008-08-22 Where is the evidence in a nursing research study What is the evidence How good is the evidence And how is it relevant to providing evidence based nursing care Ensure that students can meet the AACN's American Association of Colleges of Nursing goal of identifying valid research findings and using them to determine if they are providing care that is supported by evidence      Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1983 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965-70      National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1982      Parenteral and Enteral Nutrition for Nurses Keyvan Moghissi, Jennifer R.
