Divided Cities The Oxford Amnesty Lectures 2003:

Divided Cities Richard Scholar, 2006-01-26 Cities at their best are cradles of diversity opportunity and citizenship Why then do so many cities today seem scarred by divisions separating the powerful and privileged from the victims of deprivation and injustice What is it like to live on the wrong side of the divide in Paris London New York Sao Paulo and other cities all over the world In this book based on the internationally renowned Oxford Amnesty Lectures eight leading urban thinkers argue about why divisions arise in cities and about what could and should be done to bring those divisions to an end The book features essays by Patrick Declerck Stuart Hall David Harvey Richard Rogers Patricia Williams and James Wolfensohn with commentaries from Peter Hall Michael Likosky and others The many contemporary issues that the book addresses include the impact of globalization and migration on the urban environment the consequences of the war on terror for those living in cities the new development paradigm being adopted by international institutions in the developing world the need for a genuine urban renaissance in Britain and elsewhere and the suffering of the homeless These controversial and sometimes conflicting essays linked by Richard Scholar's incisive introduction aim to encourage and inform debate about the challenges to human rights in our increasingly urban world

Divided Cities Richard Scholar, 2006-01-26 This volume examines the forces shaping urbanisation and the divisions that threaten the world's cities It addresses many contemporary issues including the impact of globalisation and migration on cities the consequences of the war on terror and the challenges facing urban planners in the developed world

Planning in Divided Cities Frank Gaffikin, Mike Morrissey, 2011-04-18 Does planning in contested cities inadvertently make the divisions worse The 60s and 70s saw a strong role of planning social engineering etc but there has since been a move towards a more decentralised community planning approach The book examines urban planning and policy in the context of deeply contested space where place identity and cultural affinities are reshaping cities Throughout the world contentions around identity and territory abound and in Britain this problem has found recent expression in debates about multiculturalism and social cohesion These issues are most visible in the urban arena where socially polarised communities co habit cities also marked by divided ethnic loyalties The relationship between the two is complicated by the typical pattern that social disadvantage is disproportionately concentrated among ethnic groups who also experience a social and cultural estrangement based on religious or racial identity Navigating between social exclusion and community cohesion is essential for the urban challenges of efficient resource use environmental enhancement and the development of a flourishing economy The book addresses planning in divided cities in a UK and international context examining cities such as Chicago hyper segregated around race and Jerusalem acting as a crucible for a wider conflict The first section deals with concepts and theories examining the research literature and situating the issue within the urban challenges of competitiveness and inclusion Section 2 covers collaborative planning and identifies models of planning policy and urban governance that can operate in contested space Section 3 presents case studies from Belfast Chicago and

Jerusalem examining both the historical contemporary features of these cities and their potential trajectories The final section offers conclusions and ways forward drawing the lessons for creating shared space in a pluralist cities and addressing cohesion and multiculturalism Addresses important contemporary issue of social cohesion vs urban competitiveness focus on impact of government policies will appeal to practitioners in urban management local government and regeneration Examines role of planning in cities worldwide divided by religion race socio economic etc Explores debate about contested space in urban policy and planning Identifies models for understanding contested spaces in cities as a way of improving effectiveness of government policy World Cities and Urban Form Mike Jenks, Daniel Kozak, Pattaranan

Takkanon, 2013-12-02 This book presents new research and theory at the regional scale showing the forms metropolitan regions might take to achieve sustainability At the city scale the book presents case studies based on the latest research and practice from Europe Asia and North America showing how both planning and flagship design can propel cities into world class status and also improve sustainability The contributors explore the tension between polycentric and potentially sustainable development and urban fragmentation in a physical context but also in a wider cultural social and economic context Tourism and Regional Science Soushi Suzuki, Karima Kourtiti, Peter Nijkamp, 2021-07-27 This book provides new roads perspectives and a synthesis for tourism and regional science research Tourism has become one of the most dynamic sectors in the economy and has exhibited a structurally growing importance over the past decades In many countries the economic significance of tourism now exceeds that of traditionally strong sectors like agriculture or transportation It is noteworthy that in recent times tourism research has gained great momentum from the perspective of the leisure society the psychological tension between hard work and a more relaxed lifestyle and the productivity enhancing or productivity diminishing effects of leisure recreation and tourism An abundance of new literature in the field of tourism management can also be found for instance in the areas of hospitality management cultural events management destination competitiveness policy and marketing and transportation and logistics strategies while much attention is also being paid to the opportunities provided by digital technology for the tourism sector In addition in the light of the many negative externalities of a rapidly growing tourism sector there is also an abundant literature on the environmental and sustainability effects of tourism This book has the following objectives to explore the interwoven connection between regional science and tourism research to suggest promising pathways for innovative regional science research at the interface of tourism and space and to demonstrate the need for a new perspective on the tourism and regional science nexus by means of empirical studies Disassembled Cities Elizabeth L. Sweet, 2018-12-07 This book explores the urban political and economic effects of contemporary capitalism as well being concerned with a collective analytic that addresses these processes through the lens of disassembling and reassembling dynamics The processes of contemporary globalization have resulted in the commodification of various dimensions that were previously the domain of state action This book evaluates the varying international responses from communities as they cope and confront the negative impacts of neoliberalism In depth case studies from scholars working in Europe Latin America Africa and Asia showcase how various cities are responding to the effects of neoliberalism Chapters investigate and demonstrate how the neoliberal processes of disassembling are being countered by positive and engaged efforts of reassembly From Colombia to Siberia Chicago to Nigeria contributions engage with key economic and urban questions surrounding the militarization of state democracy the rise of the global capital and the education of young people in slums This book will have a broad appeal to academic researchers and urban planning professionals It is recommended core reading for students in Urban Planning Geography Sociology Anthropology and Urban Studies

The Idea of Home in Law Lorna Fox O'Mahony, James A. Sweeney, 2016-03-03 The Idea of Home in Law Displacement and Dispossession explores an important set of legal and policy issues surrounding the concepts of home and homelessness taking a growing area of legal scholarship into the new arena of human rights and international law The collection considers the ideas concerning home both in the sense of the dwelling place as a special type of property and territorial claims to homeland which underpin many contemporary legal problems by examining a range of contexts where people are displaced or dispossessed from their homes The essays focusing on dispossession consider themes ranging from mortgage and rent arrears in the UK to responses to the foreclosure crisis in the USA and from eviction for the purposes of economic development in South Africa to the exclusion of asylum seekers from the UK's social housing and welfare provision and within the framework of the European Convention on Human Rights The displacement theme meanwhile examines transnational home issues from the experiences of exiles and refugees in areas of conflict to the impact of the broader context of economic social and cultural rights on attempts to protect housing and home through international law At the heart of each essay the contributors experts from across the fields of law policy and housing rights examine the circumstances in which displacement and dispossession take place and reconsider how law and policy respond to such circumstances with a particular focus on the impact of loss of home for the human person At a time of particular and increasing concern about security of tenure and the role of law and policy in protecting people who are vulnerable to forced eviction The Idea of Home in Law presents a bold opportunity to raise questions about the rights and norms associated with housing and home and to generate new insights for scholarship and for national and international policy debates concerning displacement and dispossession

Contesting Peace in the Postwar City Ivan Gusic, 2019-12-03 Contesting Peace in the Postwar City is key reading for urban and peace and conflict scholars In this impressive and meticulously researched book Gusic reflects on the ways in which divisions are routinised in the everyday landscape of divided cities and skilfully investigates how change and continuity are governed in postwar urban spaces The book provides rich empirical material from the cities of Mostar Mitrovica and Belfast drawing on nuanced fieldwork insights Stefanie Kappler Durham University UK Ivan Gusic sets out a powerful theoretically critical and empirically rich account of the trajectories of cities after war The strength of the work is that it brings an understanding of the urban condition into relation with ethno national conflict and the survival of violence Gusic unsettles dominant narratives in peace studies by offering a grounded evaluation of three cities coming out of violence and points to the importance of place in peacebuilding processes Brendan Murtagh Queen's University Belfast UK Detailed case studies of Belfast Mitrovica and Mostar show how cities are often engines of what Ivan Gusic calls war in peace This on trend study combines the latest research from critical urban studies with peace and conflict studies to produce a very accessible and internationally relevant book It is highly recommended Roger Mac Ginty Durham University UK This book explores why the postwar city reinforces rather than transcends its continuities of war in peace It theorises war to peace transitions as conflicts over how to socio politically order society and then analyses different urban conflicts over peace in postwar Belfast Northern Ireland Mitrovica Kosovo and Mostar Bosnia Herzegovina Focusing on themes such as educational segregation clientelism fear paramilitaries and infrastructure it shows how conflict lines from war are perpetuated in and by the postwar city Yet it also discovers instances where antagonisms are bridged by utilising the postwar city's transcending potential While written in the nexus between peace research and urban studies this book also speaks to political geography international relations anthropology and planning Riding with Death Jana Evans

Brazier, 2017-06-22 On the southern end of the Grand Rue a major thoroughfare that runs through the center of Port au Prince waits the Haitian capital's automobile repair district This veritable junkyard of steel and rubber recycled parts old tires and scrap metal might seem an unlikely foundry for art Yet on the street's opposite end thrives the Grand Rue Galerie a working studio of assembled art and sculptures wrought from the refuse Established by artists Andr Eug ne and Jean H rard Celeur in the late 1990s the Grand Rue's urban environmental aesthetics defined by motifs of machinic urbanism Vodou bricolage the postprimitivist altermodern and performative politics radically challenge ideas about consumption waste and environmental hazards as well as consider innovative solutions to these problems in the midst of poverty insufficient social welfare lack of access to arts education and basic needs In Riding with Death Jana Evans Brazier explores the urban environmental aesthetics of the Grand Rue sculptors and the beautifully constructed sculptures they have designed from salvaged automobile parts rubber tires carved wood and other recycled materials Through first person accounts and fieldwork Brazier constructs an urban ecological framework for understanding these sculptures amid environmental degradation and grinding poverty Above all Brazier presents Haitian artists who live on the most challenged Caribbean island yet who thrive as creators reinventing refuse as art and resisting the abjection of their circumstances Manifestoes and

Transformations in the Early Modernist City Professor Christian Hermansen Cordua, 2012-11-28 The industrialization of the nineteenth century European city facilitated developing conceptions of the model city and allowed for large scale urban transformations The urban discourse in the latter half of the nineteenth century was consequently dominated by a dialectic exchange between the ideal and the practical a debate played out in the formation of the modern metropolis Manifestoes and

Transformations is the first work to deal with urban utopias and their relationship with actual urban interventions Bringing together a carefully chosen wide ranging team of experts the book provides a broad contextual exploration of the ideas and urban practices which are the foundations of our conception of the contemporary city As such it is a valuable resource for students interested in the formation of the modernist city Selected Writings on Race and Difference Stuart

Hall,2021-04-02 In Selected Writings on Race and Difference editors Paul Gilroy and Ruth Wilson Gilmore gather more than twenty essays by Stuart Hall that highlight his extensive and groundbreaking engagement with race representation identity difference and diaspora Spanning the whole of his career this collection includes classic theoretical essays such as The Whites of Their Eyes 1981 and Race the Floating Signifier 1997 It also features public lectures political articles and popular pieces that circulated in periodicals and newspapers which demonstrate the breadth and depth of Hall s contribution to public discourses of race Foregrounding how and why the analysis of race and difference should be concrete and not merely descriptive this collection gives organizers and students of social theory ways to approach the interconnections of race with culture and consciousness state and society policing and freedom Citizenship as Politics ,2009-01-01 This book holds two main concepts citizenship and adult education and presents a diverse scope of ideas and experiences from different countries and perspectives in a rich indication to edify liberating practices and researches Citizenship is closely linked with participation When people are encouraged to take part in an authentic process of decision making people do participate in public affairs Here is the true meaning of citizenship related to the old idea to take part to get involved in public issues and transform their community through participation On the other hand Lifelong Learning s concepts and practices seem to have forgotten that adult education is more than the preparation for a job Adult education is learning for democracy researching communities searching for a school for all transforming communities struggling for our rights becoming awareness about environmental hazards edifying the city or expressing ourselves through theatre or public art Lifelong Learning s concepts and practices seem to have forgotten that life is more than the labour market The entire life of women and men are the substance of what adult education is made of The book is not only addressed to scholars under and postgraduate students interested in citizenship and adult education but also to practitioners working in communities in a participatory way

Contested Britain Hugh Mackay,Marius Guderjan,Gesa Stedman,2020-03-25 A distinctive and original analysis of how the politics of the UK and the lives of British citizens have evolved in the first decades of the twenty first century this book provides an interdisciplinary critical examination of the roots ideology and consequences of austerity politics the Brexit vote and the rise of populist politics in Britain Bringing together case studies and perspectives from an array of international researchers across the social sciences it dissects the ways that the UK has become increasingly contested with profound differences of geography generation gender race and class and considers agency as a key concept to understand the links between austerity and Brexit A Brief History of Neoliberalism David Harvey,2007-01-04 Neoliberalism the doctrine that market exchange is an ethic in itself capable of acting as a guide for all human action has become dominant in both thought and practice throughout much of the world since 1970 or so Its spread has depended upon a reconstitution of state powers such that privatization finance and market processes are emphasized State interventions in the economy are minimized while the obligations of the state to provide for the welfare of its citizens are diminished David Harvey author of The New Imperialism and The Condition of Postmodernity here tells the political economic story of where neoliberalization came from and how it proliferated on the world stage While Thatcher and Reagan are often cited as primary authors of this neoliberal turn Harvey shows how a complex of forces from Chile to China and from New York City to Mexico City have also played their part In addition he explores the continuities and contrasts between neoliberalism of the Clinton sort and the recent turn towards neoconservative imperialism of George W Bush Finally through critical engagement with this history Harvey constructs a framework not only for analyzing the political and economic dangers that now surround us but also for assessing the prospects for the more socially just alternatives being advocated by many oppositional movements Practising

Community-Based Participatory Research Shauna MacKinnon, 2018-04-01 There is increasing pressure on university scholars to reach beyond the ivory tower and engage in collaborative research with communities But what does this actually mean What is community based participatory research CBPR and what does engagement look like This book presents stories about CBPR from past and current Manitoba Research Alliance projects in socially and economically marginalized communities Bringing together experienced researchers with new scholars and community practitioners the stories describe the impetus for the research projects how they came to be implemented and how CBPR is still being used to effect change within the community The projects ranging from engagement in public policy advocacy to learning from Elders in First Nations communities were selected to demonstrate the breadth of experiences of those involved and the many different methods used By providing space for researchers and their collaborators to share the stories behind their research this book offers valuable lessons and rich insights into the power and practice of CBPR Minorities and the Power of the Law (2007) by Gilles Deleuze minorities nomads lines of flight deliasion Squatting in Rio de Janeiro Bea Wittger, 2017-04-15 The Brazilian Constitution provides a remarkable set of social rights including the right to housing Despite this fact struggles for decent living conditions have become key issues in the daily urban lives of many people in Brazil Contesting the differentiated access to housing social movements occupy empty buildings in the cities to challenge historically rooted and excluding urban politics Exploring the occupants agency Bea Wittger draws attention to the important role of female actors within the buildings Through oral histories of participants of two squats in Rio de Janeiro the book delivers a deep insight from below into their own perspectives on citizenship and gender The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2006

World Society and the Middle East S. Stetter, 2008-07-11 Offers a novel cross disciplinary theoretical perspective on conflict and conflict transformation in world society and integrates the study of conflicts in the Middle East region into a modern systems theoretical framework Global Heritage Lynn Meskell, 2015-06-22 Examines the social cultural and ethical dimensions of heritage research and practice and the underlying international politics of protecting cultural and natural resources around the globe Focuses on ethnographic and embedded perspectives as well as a commitment to ethical engagement Appeals to a broad audience from archaeologists to heritage professionals museum curators to the general public The contributors comprise an outstanding team representing some of the most prominent scholars in this broad field with a combination of senior and emerging scholars and an emphasis on international contributions
