Divided Heart Scandinavian Immigrant Exp:

Twofold Identities Øyvind Tveitereid Gulliksen, 2004 Twofold Identities is a study of Midwestern American literature as well as of Norwegian American immigrant texts. Many readers have judged the latter to be a mere reflection of immigrant experience, a judgment that is neither fair nor correct. These American writers were forced to confront an essentially modern experience complicated by the contextual duality of bilingualism. For early Midwestern immigrant writers and their readers, the task of homemaking in a new setting was a philosophically challenging and highly problematic endeavor. These Midwestern writers were not lost, divided, nor rootless. They had the unique, privileged ability to draw on the resources of two worlds. As writers, they enjoyed and helped to strengthen twofold identities. The Old Country and the New Hildor Arnold Barton, 2007. In this collection are seventeen essays and seven editorials by Barton and published in leading journals between 1974 and 2005. The subjects include post-World War II Swedish immigration and remigration to Sweden. A full bibliography of Barton's publications on Swedish American history and culture is included. Provided by publisher. The American West: A New Interpretive History Robert V. Hine, John Mack Faragher, Jon T. Coleman, 2017-08-08. A fully revised and updated new edition of the classic history of western America. The newly revised second edition of this concise, engaging, and unorthodox history of America's West has been updated to incorporate new research, including recent scholarship on Native American lives and cultures. An ideal text for course work, it presents the West as both frontier and region, examining the clashing of different cultures and ethnic groups that occurred in the western territories from the first Columbian contacts between Native Americans and Europeans up to the end of the twentieth century. North American Encounters Dieter Meindl, 2002. These essays, in English except for four items in German and French, provide an intercultural perspective. They deal with such diverse aspects of North America, including Quebecois literature. The continental context also pervades treatments of novels featuring Indian wars, sentimentalism, the West, and modern popular story cycles, e.g., Atwood's and the long poem Kroetsch. Immigrants in Two Democracies Donald Horowitz, Gerard Noiriel, 1992. International migration is often considered a relatively new development in world history. Yet while there has been a surge in migration since World War II, the worldwide movement of peoples is a longstanding phenomenon. So too are the fundamental issues raised by immigration: How do immigrants fit into and affect the polity and society of the country they enter? What changes can or must the receiving state make to accommodate them? What changes in culture and ethnic identity do immigrants undergo in their new environment? How do they relate to the mix of peoples already present in their new homeland? What determines the policies that govern their reception and treatment? In this volume, expertly edited by a leading American political scientist, lawyer, and a leading French historian, twenty-one renowned experts on immigration address these questions and a variety of other issues involving the experiences of immigrants in the city, at the workplace, and in schools and churches. Their essays examine the issues of nationality, citizenship, law, and politics that define the life of an immigrant population. Focusing on the United States and France this volume is a social history and a legal and public policy study that comprehensively portrays the dilemmas immigrants present and face Contributors include Sophie Body Gendrot Danielle Boyzon Frader Andre Clement Decoufle Veronique de Rudder Lawrence H Fuchs Nathan Glazer Philip Gleason Stanley Lieberman Lance Liebman Daniele Lochak Michel Oriol Martin A Schain Peter H Schuck Roxane Silberman Werner Sollors Stephan Thernstrom Maryse Tripiier Maris A Vinovskis and Myron Weiner

A Community Transplanted Robert Clifford Ostergren, 1988 The book follows the people from the Swedish farming community of Rttvik to Isanti County Minnesota and explores the link of people and places between Sweden and America

A Folk Divided Hildor Arnold Barton, 1994 What happens to a people when it becomes divided and separated through a great overseas migration how do the two parts of such a divided people relate to each other What ideas do they have regarding each other as the process continues and as time and circumstance cause them to develop in separate ways of their own The purpose of this book is to seek answers to such questions in the case of the Swedes during the period of their great migration between roughly 1840 and 1940 Pref

The Irish Voice in America Charles Fanning, 2014-07-11 In this study Charles Fanning has written the first general account of the origins and development of a literary tradition among American writers of Irish birth or background who have explored the Irish immigrant or ethnic experience in works of fiction The result is a portrait of the evolving fictional self consciousness of an immigrant group over a span of 250 years Fanning traces the roots of Irish American writing back to the eighteenth century and carries it forward through the traumatic years of the Famine to the present time with an intensely productive period in the twentieth century beginning with James T Farrell Later writers treated in depth include Edwin O Connor Elizabeth Cullinan Maureen Howard and William Kennedy Along the way he places in the historical record many all but forgotten writers including the prolific Mary Ann Sadlier The Irish Voice in America is not only a highly readable contribution to American literary history but also a valuable reference to many writers and their works For this second edition Fanning has added a chapter that covers the fiction of the past decade He argues that contemporary writers continue to draw on Ireland as a source and are important chroniclers of the modern American experience
