Divided In Unity Identity Germany And The Berlin Police:

Divided in Unity Andreas Glaeser, 2000 More than a decade after unification Germany remains deeply divided Following East and West German police officers on their patrols through the newly united city of Berlin and observing how they make sense of one another in a fast changing environment Andreas Glaeser explains how East West boundaries have been maintained by the interactions of institutions practices and cultural forms including diverging patterns of understanding rooted in vastly different social systems readily revived Cold War images the continuing search for an adequate response to Germany's Nazi past and the politics and organization of unification which impose highly asymmetrical burdens on east and west Glaeser also leverages his ethnography to develop an innovative approach to studying identity formation processes Central to his theory is an emphasis on the exchange of identifications and the particular ways in which they are deployed and recognized in interpretations narratives and performances as parts of face to face encounters political discourses and organizational practices Migration and the Construction of German Identities, 1949-2004 Bethany Erin Hicks, 2023-10-24

Migration in its many forms has often been found at the center of public and private discourse surrounding German nationalism and identity significantly influencing how both states construct conceptions of what it means to be German at any given place and time The attempt at constructing an ethnically homogeneous Third Reich was shattered by the movement of refugees expellees and soldiers in the aftermath of the Second World War and the contracting of foreign nationals as Gastarbeiter in the Federal Republic and Vertragsarbeiter in the German Democratic Republic in the 1960s and 70s diversified the ethnic landscape of both Cold War German states during the latter half of the Cold War Bethany Hicks shows how the regional migration of East Germans into the western federal states both during and after German unification challenged essential Cold War assumptions concerning the ability to integrate two very different German populations

Meeting Once More Elise M. Prébin, 2013-05-06 Thoughtfully written drawing on her own life experience as well as her anthropological training Prébin provides us with a new window into the complex world of transnational adoption She weaves together kinship media and globalization as well as recent Korean history to offer us lessons about today's adoption practices Barbara Katz Rothman author of Weaving A Family Untangling Race and Adoption A great mobilization began in South Korea in the 1990s adult transnational adoptees began to return to their birth country and meet for the first time with their birth parents sometimes in televised encounters which garnered high ratings What makes the case of South Korea remarkable is the sheer scale of the activity that has taken place around the adult adoptees return and by extension the national significance that has been accorded to these family meetings Informed by the author's own experience as an adoptee and two years of ethnographic research in Seoul Meeting Once More sheds light on an understudied aspect of transnational adoption the impact of adoptees on their birth country and especially on their birth families The volume offers a complex and fascinating contribution to the study of new kinship models migration and the anthropology of media Elise Prébin was born in South Korea in 1978 was raised in France and is now living in New York City with her husband and daughter In 2006 she obtained her PhD at University of Paris X Nanterre in social anthropology was a postdoc and lecturer at Harvard University from 2007 to 2009 and served as Assistant Professor at Hanyang University South Korea from 2010 to 2011 She is now an independent scholar Handbook of the Sociology of Morality Steven Hitlin, Stephen Vaisey, 2010-10-17 Human beings necessarily understand their social worlds in moral terms orienting their lives relationships and activities around socially produced notions of right and wrong Morality is sociologically understood as more than simply helping or harming others it encompasses any way that individuals form understandings of what behaviors are better than others what goals are most laudable and what proper people believe feel and do Morality involves the explicit and implicit sets of rules and shared understandings that keep human social groups intact Morality includes both the shoulds and should nots of human activity its proactive and inhibitive elements At one time sociologists were centrally concerned with morality issues like social cohesion values the goals and norms that structure society and the ways individuals get socialized to reproduce those concerns In the last half century however explicit interest in these topics has waned and modern sociology has become uninterested in these matters and morality has become marginalized within the discipline But a resurgence in the topic is happening in related disciplines psychology neurology philosophy and anthropology and in the wider national discourse Sociology has much to offer but is not fully engaged in this conversation Many scholars work on areas that would fall under the umbrella of a sociology of morality but do not self identify in such a manner nor orient their efforts toward conceptualizing what we know and should know along these dimensions The Handbook of the Sociology of Morality fills a niche within sociology making explicit the shared concerns of scholars across the disciplines as they relate to an often overlooked dimension of human social life It is unique in social science as it would be the first systematic compilation of the wider social structural cultural cross national organizational and interactional dimension of human moral understood broadly thought feeling and behavior

Deciphering the Global Saskia Sassen, 2013-10-31 Saskia Sassen is Ralph Lewis Professor of Sociology at the University of Chicago and Professor of Sociology at the London School of Economics Deserved Till Hilmar, 2023-07-04 After the fall of the Iron Curtain people across the former socialist world saw their lives transformed In just a few years labor markets were completely disrupted and the meanings attached to work were drastically altered How did people who found themselves living under state socialism one day and capitalist democracy the next adjust to the changing social order and its new system of values Till Hilmar examines memories of the postsocialist transition in East Germany and the Czech Republic to offer new insights into the power of narratives about economic change Despite the structural nature of economic shifts people often interpret life outcomes in individual terms Many are deeply attached to the belief that success and failure must be deserved Emphasizing individual effort responsibility and character they pass moral judgments based on a person's fortunes in the job market Hilmar argues that such frameworks represent ways of making sense of the profound economic and social dislocations after 1989 People craft narratives of deservingness about themselves and others to solve the problem of belonging in a new social order Drawing on in depth interviews with engineers and care workers as well as historical and comparative analysis of the breakdown of communism in Eastern Europe Deserved sheds new light on the moral imagination of capitalism and the experience of economic change This book also offers crucial perspective on present day politics showing how notions of deservingness and moral worth have propelled right wing populism Global Cinderellas Pei-Chia Lan,2006-04-03 A study of migrant Philipina domestic workers in Taiwan Working with Affect in Feminist Readings Marianne Liljeström,Susanna Paasonen,2010-03-08 Working with Affect in Feminist Readings Disturbing Differences explores the place and function of affect in feminist knowledge production investigating what it means to work with and through affect as well as the kinds of ethical and methodological challenges that this involves Policing the Revolution Rebecca Hanson,2025-03-04 In Policing the Revolution Rebecca Hanson provides the first in depth analysis of policing and security policies during the Bolivarian Revolution in Venezuela focusing on the experiences of three groups police officers police reformers and residents of neighborhoods most affected by violence Drawing on ethnographic interview and survey research collected over ten years she analyzes how security policies within the context of the pink tide and later turn to authoritarianism contributed to the expansion of lateral violence and the pluralization of non state violent actors Rethinking the relationship between revolution violence and state building this book is essential reading to understand how and why violence increased so dramatically in Venezuela in the twenty first century Beheading the Saint Geneviève Zubrzycki,2016-12-19 Through much of its existence Qu bec s neighbors called it the priest ridden province Today however Qu bec society is staunchly secular with a modern welfare state built on lay provision of social services a transformation rooted in the Quiet Revolution of the 1960s In Beheading the Saint Genevi ve Zubrzycki studies that transformation through a close investigation of the annual Feast of St John the Baptist of June 24 The celebrations of that national holiday she shows provided a venue for a public contesting of the dominant ethno Catholic conception of French Canadian identity and via the violent rejection of Catholic symbols the articulation of a new secular Qu b cois identity From there Zubrzycki extends her analysis to the present looking at the role of Qu b cois identity in recent debates over immigration the place of religious symbols in the public sphere and the politics of cultural heritage issues that also offer insight on similar debates elsewhere in the world Fieldwork Is Not What It Used to Be James D. Faubion,George E. Marcus,2011-10-15 Over the past two decades anthropologists have been challenged to rethink the nature of ethnographic research the meaning of fieldwork and the role of ethnographers Ethnographic fieldwork has cultural social and political ramifications that have been much discussed and acted upon but the training of ethnographers still follows a very traditional pattern this volume engages and takes its point of departure in the experiences of ethnographers in the making that encourage alternative models for professional training in fieldwork and its intellectual contexts The work done by contributors to Fieldwork Is Not What It

Used to Be articulates at the strategic point of career making research features of this transformation in progress Setting aside traditional anxieties about ethnographic authority the authors revisit fieldwork with fresh initiative In search of better understandings of the contemporary research process itself they assess the current terms of the engagement of fieldworkers with their subjects address the constructive open ended forms by which the conclusions of fieldwork might take shape and offer an accurate and useful description of what it means to become and to be an anthropologist today Untimely Sacrifices Daena Aki Funahashi,2023-04-15 Untimely Sacrifices questions why individuals may give their time and energy to the collective against their own self interest Turning to Finland where public health officials named occupational burnout as a new hazard of the new economy Daena Funahashi asks What moves people to work to the point of pathological stress Contrary to health experts who highlight the importance of self management and energetic conservation Funahashi questions the very economic premise of cognitive psychology that one could economize one s energy and thus save oneself By pitting anthropological takes on sacrifice next to the clinical discourses on pressure work and coping Funahashi offers ways to rethink what drives stress Untimely Sacrifices also provides a compelling critique of state welfare and political economy contesting the tendency to treat the gift economy as something separate from the force that makes redistributive mechanisms of state welfare work It is a book essential to those interested in how forces unassimilable to conventional economy come to matter in issues of labor stress and welfare Constructing Quality Jens Beckert,Christine Musselin,2013-06-13 This book explores how value and quality are established in markets and society by means of a series of empirical studies across a diverse set of topics It contributes to the sociology of markets as well as connecting to the larger issue of the constitution of social order through classification Finding Mecca in America Mucahit Bilici,2024-05-31 The events of 9 11 had a profound impact on American society but they had an even more lasting effect on Muslims living in the United States Once practically invisible they suddenly found themselves overexposed By describing how Islam in America began as a strange cultural object and is gradually sinking into familiarity Finding Mecca in America illuminates the growing relationship between Islam and American culture as Muslims find a homeland in America Rich in ethnographic detail the book is an up close account of how Islam takes its American shape In this book Mucahit Bilici traces American Muslims progress from outsiders to natives and from immigrants to citizens Drawing on the philosophies of Simmel and Heidegger Bilici develops a novel sociological approach and offers insights into the civil rights activities of Muslim Americans their increasing efforts at interfaith dialogue and the recent phenomenon of Muslim ethnic comedy Theoretically sophisticated Finding Mecca in America is both a portrait of American Islam and a groundbreaking study of what it means to feel at home Ethnic Boundary Making Andreas Wimmer,2013-02-07 Introducing a new comparative theory of ethnicity Andreas Wimmer shows why ethnicity matters in certain societies and contexts but not in others and why it is sometimes associated with inequality and exclusion with political and public debate with closely held identities while in other cases ethnicity does not structure the allocation of resources invites little political passion and represent secondary aspects of individual identity

Reception of Northrop Frye ,2021-09-23 The Reception of Northrup Frye takes a thorough accounting of the presence of Frye in existing works and argues against Frye s diminishing status as an important critical voice Memory Against Culture Johannes Fabian,2007 Recent essays by prominent anthropologist on questions of time memory and ethnography

Difficult Heritage Sharon Macdonald,2010-10-04 How does a city and a nation deal with a legacy of perpetrating atrocity How are contemporary identities negotiated and shaped in the face of concrete reminders of a past that most wish they did not have Difficult Heritage focuses on the case of Nuremberg a city whose name is indelibly linked with Nazism to explore these questions and their implications Using an original in depth research using archival interview and ethnographic sources it provides not only fascinating new material and perspectives but also more general original theorizing of the relationship between heritage identity and material culture The book looks at how Nuremberg has dealt with its Nazi past post 1945 It focuses especially but not exclusively on the city s architectural heritage in particular the former Nazi party rally grounds on which the Nuremberg rallies were staged The book draws on original sources such as city council debates and interviews to chart a lively picture of debate action and inaction in relation to this site and significant others in Nuremberg and elsewhere In doing so Difficult Heritage seeks to highlight changes over time in the ways in which the Nazi past has been dealt with in Germany and the underlying cultural assumptions motivations and sources of friction involved Whilst referencing wider debates and giving examples of what was happening elsewhere in Germany and beyond Difficult Heritage provides a rich in depth account of this most fascinating of cases It also engages in comparative reflection on developments underway elsewhere in order to contextualize what was happening in Nuremberg and to show similarities to and differences from the ways in which other difficult heritages have been dealt with elsewhere By doing so the author offers an informed perspective on ways of dealing with difficult heritage today and in the future discussing innovative museological educational and artistic practice

Mosques in the Metropolis Elisabeth Becker,2021-09-20 Mosques in the Metropolis is a dual site ethnographic study of two of Europe s largest mosques one a conservative Islamist community in London and the other a progressive Muslim community in Berlin The contrasting sites allow sociologist Elisabeth Becker to provide a complex picture of Islam in Europe at a particularly fraught time She spent over thirty months studying the mosques through immersion and interviews and provides an analysis that goes deep into European Muslim communities Individual Muslim voices come through loud and clear for example the young mother of three in London trying to reconcile her conservative religious views with her desire to leave her husband as do the historical and structural forces at play Ultimately Becker insists that caste is a crucial lens through which to view Islam in Europe and through this lens she critiques what she perceives as failing European pluralism To amplify her point Becker brings Jewish history and twentieth century Jewish thought into the conversation directly drawing on the ways in which Bauman and Arendt utilized the concept of caste to describe Jewish life and marginality What is at stake here is nothing less than the fundamental values of freedom equality and individual rights ostensibly the bedrock of European identity
