Divine Decision A Process Doctrine Of Election:

The Divine Decision Donna Bowman,2002-01-01 Donna Bowman utilizes the work of process thinker Alfred North Whitehead to develop a doctrine of election that dialogues with the view of Reformed theologian Karl Barth Taking seriously Barth s contention that election is the best of all words that can be spoken about God Bowman reinterprets Whitehead s description of God s provision of the initial aim to each entity as the central cosmological and theological fact of universal election By combining Barth s concerns with process categories she concludes that both systems are aimed at common theological and philosophical enemies The New Cambridge Companion to Christian Doctrine Michael Allen,2022-11-17 This Companion guides the reader through the main topics and the most significant methods for practicing Christian theology The essays in this first part engage the ten most notable loci in Christian doctrine The ten essays in the second part address the most significant movements that have broad impact upon the practice of Christian doctrine Reading the Gospels with Karl Barth Migliore, Daniel L.,2017 Papers presented at the 2015 Karl Barth Conference held June 21 24 at Princeton Theological Seminary on the theme of Karl Barth and the Gospels Interpreting Gospel Texts Church Doctrine, Volume 2 Paul C. McGlasson,2014-08-04 The present volume is the second in a five volume study of church doctrine The multivolume set will cover the major parts of church doctrine Canon God Creation Reconciliation and Redemption The first volume now in print begins with an introduction to the entire project on why doctrine matters which stresses the ecumenical global and above all biblical horizons of church doctrine as a primary expression of Christian witness The purpose of this second volume can be simply stated to let God be God In a world in which the God of the Christian witness is often confused with the tribal god of religion a god who sets us against them who divides humanity into nations peoples regions races the gospel proclaims the living God of the Bible who fashions a new humanity on the earth This God in the freedom of his love elects to be for humanity and calls all humanity to live for him Church doctrine is not a luxury but a necessity for the living community of faith by which its witness in word and deed is tested against the one true measure of Christ the risen Lord

The Relational Power of God Eleanor O'Donnell,2023-01-23 When we find the courage to allow our rebel voice to speak many of us question traditional Christian beliefs about God s power and how it is exercised in the world and in the church We ask What if God is not in omnipotent control of everything What if God s exercise of power is relational and noncoercive instead What if it is the quality rather than the quantity of God s power that really matters This book focuses on the theology of power that emerges when we ask such questions It draws on the social Trinitarian theology of Jürgen Moltmann and the process thought of Charles Hartshorne to image God as a Social Trinity in process This vision of God understands the Holy Trinity to be fully relational and thoroughly with us and all creation To think of God and God s power this way ensures freedom for creature and creation and enables a viable response to the problem of evil and suffering It also leads to the conclusion that human relationships in the world and in the church are best modeled on the power sharing solidarity of the Triune God The New Chosen People, Revised and Expanded Edition William W. Klein, 2015-11-25

Controversy rages on about God's choosing people for salvation. Are only the few elect? Rather than typically beginning with the preconceptions of systematic theologies, Dr. William Klein takes up this question by searching for a biblical theology of election. He surveys the OT contexts of God's choosing individuals: prophets, priests, kings, to serve divine purposes, and considers God's election of the nation of Israel as his special people. This OT study proposes that God's election is both individual and corporate but not always determinative. Individuals entered the people of God by birth but not all the people found salvation. Faith in Yahweh was required. This book traces these elective understandings through the intertestamental literature, identifying continuities and shifts. The bulk of the study and the heart of the argument focus on the New Testament. Klein identifies concepts of election and relationships between writers in the gospels, the Lucan material, Paul's writings, and the rest. The new covenant: God choosing the church in Christ emphasizes election as corporate, while the individual election of Jesus' disciples and of Paul raises the question whether such chosenness is necessarily salvific. In closing, Klein discusses the most engaging and divisive questions around God's election and offers a real challenge to today's church.

The Humanity of Christ Paul Dafydd Jones, 2011-09-29

Drawing on the best English and German language scholarship to date, this book offers a novel interpretation of Barth's mature Christology. Examining the entirety of the Dogmatics, it provides a nuanced analysis of Barth's treatment of the Chalcedonian Definition, the enhypostasis-anhypostasis pairing, and various Protestant scholastic Christological distinctions; an examination of the co-inherence of Barth's doctrines of God and Christ, which contributes to current debates about Barth's doctrine of election; and a lengthy account of the Christology of Church Dogmatics IV that foregrounds Barth's understanding of Christ's human involvement in the drama of reconciliation. Throughout the text, the author shows convincingly that Barth's emphasis on Christ's divinity goes hand in hand with a dogmatically rich and often startling account of Christ's humanity. The text does not confine itself to the Church Dogmatics. It also situates Barth in the context of the wider Christian tradition and modern western philosophy of religion. Thus, Barth is set in conversation with a wide range of thinkers, including Anselm of Canterbury, Martin Luther, John Calvin, Friedrich Schleiermacher, G. W. F. Hegel, Gottfried Thomasius, and Harry Frankfurt. In addition, the text makes a number of constructive gestures, showing a particular interest in feminist and liberationist trajectories of thought. The final chapter considers the standing of Barth's Christology today and its pertinence for theological ethics and political theology.

To the Jew First A. Chadwick Thornhill, 2013-07-31

Paul's doctrine of election has remained a controversial and enigmatic topic for centuries. Few studies, however, have approached Paul's doctrine through the context of Second Temple Judaism. This study examines Paul's view of election through the lens of Second Temple Jewish texts written prior to 70 CE. In doing so, it is argued that the best framework through which to view Paul's discussion of election is through a primarily corporate model of election. While such a model is rooted in Judaism, Paul departs from his Jewish contemporaries in arguing that the locus of election is in God.

s Messiah Jesus Perspectives on Eternal Security Kirk R. MacGregor, Kevaughn Mattis, 2009-05-07 Eternal security or personal assurance of final salvation constitutes the single most important matter of practical theology in the Christian tradition. For the past twenty centuries no other doctrine has exerted such a direct impact on the lives of lay Christians driving their daily actions, guiding their permanent choices and shaping their psychology. From the New Testament period onward a diversity of views on biblical interpretation, anthropology and divine sovereignty have produced numerous models of eternal security. However, due to the early modern fracturing of Protestant thought along Reformed and Arminian lines, today most evangelicals equate eternal security with Calvin's perseverance of the saints. In an ecumenical vein, this collection of essays aims to remedy the knowledge gap by bringing a breadth of biblical, historical and philosophical perspectives to bear on the question of eternal security. These essays comprise the first print anthology from the online theological journal Testamentum Imperium, an international forum founded and edited by Kevaughn Mattis, featuring scores of first-rate articles from Christian thinkers worldwide on the topic of eternal security. This book therefore analyzes Calvin's model of perseverance alongside views on eternal security ranging historically from Clement of Rome to contemporary developments in philosophical theology and process theology. Furthermore, this book explores and strengthens the biblical roots of eternal security through an illuminating host of thematic studies on whole books and exegetical studies on particular passages. Hence, this volume will profit all who are interested in the scriptural foundations and historical outworkings of eternal security.

Cosmology, Ecology, and the Energy of God Donna Bowman, Clayton Crockett, 2012 Cosmology, Ecology and the Energy of God brings together process and postmodern theologians who reflect on the topic of energy. Approaches include dark energy in terms of physics, social and ecological aspects of the current energy use crisis, and connections between human conceptions of energy and divine spiritual energy in theological terms. Calvin's Theology and Its Reception J.

Prayer Karl Barth, 2002-01-01 Prayer is one of the central activities of Christian life. This anniversary edition of Karl Barth's lectures on the Lord's Prayer, along with supplementary essays by three Barth scholars, introduces us to what he had to say about this important Christian practice. For Barth, the ultimate aim of all theology is worship, and here he mines the theological and spiritual wisdom of Luther, Calvin and the Heidelberg Catechism, urging us to participate in the work of God through prayer. The One, the Many, and the Trinity Marc A.
