Handbook of the Life Course Jeylan T. Mortimer, Michael J. Shanahan, 2007-12-14 This comprehensive handbook provides an overview of key theoretical perspectives concepts and methodological approaches that while applied to diverse phenomena are united in their general approach to the study of lives across age phases In surveying the wide terrain of life course studies with dual emphases on theory and empirical research this important reference work presents probative concepts and methods and identifies promising avenues for future research Diverging Pathways Alan C.

Kerckhoff, 1993-06-25 Social arrangements of society's institutions deflect people's achievement patterns Some schools take only talented students others take the rest within schools students are separated into ability groups Firms are in different industries and vary in size During their educational and work careers people get sorted into these different locations Diverging Pathways examines that sorting process and shows how it affects people's achievements Some locations accelerate achievements others depress them in elementary secondary and postsecondary school programs and in the labor force Most important some people are consistently in the same kinds of locations repeatedly advantaged or disadvantaged especially in school They end up far apart as adults due in large part to the cumulative effects of the social arrangements they passed through Diverging Pathways follows the members of a 1958 British birth cohort for the first twenty three years of their lives It presents a detailed picture of their family backgrounds and their school and early labor force experiences and achievements Besides the cumulative effects of institutional locations it shows major career differences of men and women and it describes how the interface between postsecondary education and the labor force alters some of the outcomes of elementary and secondary schooling The Well-Being, Peer Cultures and Rights of Children Loretta E. Bass, David A.

Kinney, 2011-07-19 This volume is comprised of empirical research and theoretical papers about children's well being children and youth peer cultures and the rights of children and youth These empirical studies include children's voices and experiences from four continents and a range of methodological and theoretical orientations Restructuring Schools

Maureen T. Hallinan, 2013-11-11 Restructuring Schools presents conceptual and empirical models of school organization for promoting students achievement Papers by nationally recognized educational sociologists examine four dimensions of the educational process school organization and governance organization of students for instruction classroom processes and school to work transitions and suggest methods to increase the effectiveness of each The volume also explores the innovative concept of output driven education which redirects attention to student achievement as an outcome variable From

Adolescence to Adulthood in the Vietnam Era Timothy J. Owens, 2008-01-08 Children born during the post WWII era of peace and prosperity entered history at a time dominated by I Like Ike politics and domestic security As they approached adolescence however their world was shaken by major cultural economic social and political upheaval And although it was time of great innovation and progress a sense of chaos and bitterness began to envelop the country It was the 60s For many Americans a mere mention of this decade evokes an extraordinary time and place in the country's and their own history. Adolescents who had been enjoying the technological and medical advances of the era—television, drive-in movies, rock and roll, vaccinations that prevented once incurable diseases—now were also experiencing the fallout from the Civil Rights Movement, domestic terrorism, stagflation, and perhaps most significant, the Vietnam War. From Adolescence to Adulthood in the Vietnam Era provides a unique, detailed, long-term study of the psychological and social worlds of male adolescents who were on the cusp of adulthood as the 1960s were ending. This longitudinal analysis follows adolescent boys who graduated with the class of 1969 and transitioned into adulthood either through military service, full-time employment, or college life. The results examine the different pathways these boys chose and the affect these choices had on their transition from adolescents to young adult men.

How Families Still Matter Vern L. Bengtson, Timothy J. Biblarz, Robert E. L. Roberts, 2002-10-17

How Families Still Matter casts doubt on the conventional wisdom about family decline during the last decades of the twentieth century. The authors draw from the longest running longitudinal study of families in the world, the Longitudinal Study of Generations, conducted at the University of Southern California, to discover whether parents are really less critical in shaping the life choices and achievements of their children than they were a generation ago. They compare the influence of parents on self-confidence, values, and levels of achievement on the Baby Boomer generation with that of Baby Boomer parents on their own Generation X children. The findings may surprise many readers: Generation X youth showed higher levels of education, career attainments, and self-esteem than their parents, and similar values were found across generations. They indicate the resilience of family bonds across generations, even against the backdrop of massive social and family changes since the 1960s.

ATTITUDES TOWARDS MATHEMATICS AND MATHEMATICAL ACHIEVEMENT IN SECONDARY SCHOOLS IN ENGLAND: EXPLORING THE ROLE OF SOCIAL CLASS, GENDER AND ETHNICITY Jeffery Quaye, 2020-02-02

This book is essential reading in the sociology of education, social policy, and mathematics education. It is for teachers, principals, superintendents, school leaders, and policymakers. For too long, many children have not achieved their best potential in mathematics at both primary and secondary schools. Although scholarly interest in students' attitudes towards mathematics and achievement in mathematics has increased, there is scant research which explores the explanatory potential of Bourdieu's trilogy of habitus, cultural capital, and social field in investigating students' attitudes towards mathematics. The content is based on a rich empirical study of 1106 students aged 14-16 and gives a detailed account, drawing on both quantitative and qualitative data, to show the intersection of social class, gender, and ethnicity on students' aspiration, attitudes towards mathematics, and mathematical achievement at GCSE in secondary schools in England.

On Your Own without a Net D. Wayne Osgood, E. Michael Foster, Constance Flanagan, Gretchen R. Ruth, 2008-09-15

In the decade after high school, young people continue to rely on their families in many ways: sometimes for financial support, sometimes for help with childcare, and sometimes for continued shelter. But what about those young people who confront special difficulties during this period? Many of whom can count on little help from their families On Your Own Without a Net documents the special challenges facing seven vulnerable populations during the transition to adulthood former foster care youth youth formerly involved in the juvenile justice system youth in the criminal justice system runaway and homeless youth former special education students young people in the mental health system and youth with physical disabilities During adolescence government programs have been a major part of their lives yet eligibility for most programs typically ends between the ages of eighteen and twenty one This critical volume shows the unfortunate repercussions of this termination of support and points out the issues that must be addressed to improve these young people s chances of becoming successful adults

Romantic Relationships in Emerging Adulthood Frank D. Fincham, Ming Cui, 2010-10-28 Emerging adulthood the period between the late teens and mid twenties is a unique and important developmental period during which people gain relationship experience before settling on someone to partner with Romantic Relationships in Emerging Adulthood presents a synthesis of research and theory on this topic Leading scholars from demography sociology family studies and psychology provide original data and theoretical analyses that address the formation nature and significance of romantic relationships in emerging adults Until recently it was assumed that romantic relationships in emerging adults were not particularly important or formative The material presented allows this assumption to be thoroughly evaluated This volume is intended to be a resource for anyone interested in understanding romantic relationships in emerging adulthood It is especially appropriate for classroom use in upper level undergraduate and graduate courses in the fields of family sociology human development and family studies clinical and developmental psychology and social work

Developmental Health and the Wealth of Nations Daniel P. Keating, Clyde Hertzman, 2000-02-08 Probing the effects of the social environment upon human development this volume asks how we can best support the health and well being of infants and children in an era of rapid economic and technological change The book presents cogent findings on human development as both an individual and a population phenomenon Topics covered include links between socioeconomic status achievement and health the impact of early experience upon brain and behavioral development and how schools and communities can develop new kinds of learning environments to enhance adaptation and foster intellectual growth Synthesizing developmental biological and social perspectives this volume will appeal to a broad interdisciplinary audience

Developmental Contexts in Middle Childhood Aletha C. Huston, Marika N. Ripke, 2006-06-12 This book first published in 2006 presents research about experiences in middle childhood that forecast children s future development

Dreams Achieved and Denied Robert Courtney Smith, 2024-08-01 U S born Mexicans in New York City have achieved perhaps the biggest single generation jump in mobility in American immigration history In 2020 42 percent of second generation U S born Mexican men and 49 percent of U S born Mexican women in New York City had graduated from college versus a 13 14 percent second generation college graduation rate for most places for most studies done in recent decades How did U S born Mexicans in New York City achieve such remarkable mobility In Dreams Achieved and Denied sociologist Robert Courtney Smith examines the laws policies and individual and family practices that promoted and inhibited their social mobility For over twenty years Smith followed the lives and mobility of nearly one hundred children of Mexican immigrants in New York City Smith s longitudinal ethnographic data enabled him to intimately describe how specific mechanisms blocked or promoted mobility for years as his participants moved from adolescence through early adulthood and into established adulthood Smith documents how having or gaining legal status made certain New York City or New York State policies and practices more efficacious in supporting individual and family efforts and strategies for mobility Such immigrant inclusive and mobility promoting measures include enabling undocumented people to attend public colleges at in state tuition rates and later to get driver s licenses offering healthcare to all in New York City and the City s subway and school choice systems which enabled students to attend better schools or take opportunities outside their neighborhoods Smith finds that keeping the immigrant bargain whereby children of immigrants redeem their parents sacrifice by doing well in school helping their parents and siblings and becoming good people in their parents words helped them towards better adult outcomes and lives Having mentors picking academically stronger schools and friends and using second chance mechanisms also promoted more adult mobility However lacking legal status blocked mobility by preventing them from benefiting from these same mobility promoting city and state policies from mentors or from working hard and keeping the immigrant bargain Dreams Achieved and Denied deeply analyzes the historic upward mobility of U S born Mexicans in New York City It counters the dominant story research and public discourse tell about Mexican mobility in the U S and shows how thoughtful public policy can improve the lives of young immigrants and families

Fourth International Handbook of Globalisation, Education and Policy Research Joseph Zajda, 2024-12-04 This handbook provides a global synthesis of on going research in education and policy change during the last decade It examines discourses of globalisation from the perspectives of the global North and global South Major theories of globalisation and education policy reforms employed in the handbook are classified into two broad categories structuralist and post structuralist The handbook while examining the impact of global trends in different societies cultures and educational settings attempts to synthesise different meta theories of globalisation and their impact on societies and educational systems It discusses the continued interaction of global national and local forces and influences especially the importance of standards and quality driven education reforms the need to overcome inequality of access to quality schools and aims at providing quality education for all students In addition the impact of neo liberal ideology on education is examined in terms of its impact on ongoing standards driven education reforms globally The handbook analyses neo liberalism in education and its focus on increasing global competitiveness accountability efficiency quality standards driven policy reforms and educational stratification The impact of globalisation on education policy and reforms is a strategically significant issue for us all The unifying conceptual framework used in the handbook to critique strategic significance of globalisation is grounded in discourse CDA and critical theory The work offers the latest findings concerning major issues in education and policy directions such as global social and economic inequality neo liberal standard driven education and policy reforms performing schools in the performing culture education for human rights and social justice new perspectives on education for sustainability dominant and effective models of values education in schools and the ubiquitous impact of ICTs on education systems New Frontiers in Socialization Richard A. Settersten Jr., Timothy J Owens, 2002-06-21 New Frontiers in Socialization Frontiers in Sociology of Education Maureen T. Hallinan, 2011-07-13 Scholarly analysis in the sociology of education has burgeoned in recent decades Frontiers in Sociology of Education aims to provide a roadmap for sociologists and other social scientists as they set bold new directions for future research on schools In Part 1 of this forward looking volume the authors present cutting edge research to set new guidelines for the sociological analysis of schools In Part 2 notable social scientists historians administrators and educators provide a wide ranging array of perspectives on contemporary education to insure that scholars make creative and broadly informed contributions to the sociological analysis of schools The contributors to this volume examine events currently influencing education including globalization expansion of educational access the changing significance of religion new family structures and curriculum reform Frontiers in Sociology of Education offers an innovative collection of research and ideas aimed at inspiring new analyses of schools better linked to changing societal conditions The Fractured College Prep Pipeline Heather E. Price, 2021 This book walks readers through the stages of the high school college prep pipeline that introduces interlocked structural barriers to students The author shows how these barriers reinforce segregated structures that unfairly distribute the public good of education to some students and not others Price argues that the college prep pipeline of Advanced Placement and International Baccalaureate coursework in American high schools constitutes a new form of tracking in the 21st century Even further this new tracking introduces a facade of college readiness that veils the unequal learning opportunities that send some students out into the college world with pockets full of counterfeit credentials that serve only to reinforce the historically oppressive system Whether intentional or not this new form of tracking is embedded in schools across the United States and have lifetime consequences for individual students that reinforce historically racial ethnic and spatial inequalities This book is a rigorous and engaging portrait of the architecture of opportunity in American schools With a fine grained analysis that never loses sight of the big picture Heather Price reveals structural realities of college readiness in the United States that are ripe for change Sean Kelly University of Pittsburgh Disability Across the Developmental Life Span Julie Smart, 2011-11-14 This is the only text to provide comprehensive coverage of human growth and development a requirement mandated by the Council of Rehabilitation Education CORE for a master's degree in rehabilitation counseling and for Licensed Professional Counselor certification Written by an eminent leader in the field of disability studies this volume reflects a significant change in perceptions of individuals with disabilities from being defined foremost by their disability to being viewed as normal individuals with a disability It provides an understanding of traditional human growth and development that will enhance the practice of disability counseling by enabling an understanding of a client's childhood and prior life experiences. The book begins with a focus on developmental theories and tasks followed by a discussion of cultural and ethical considerations in human development. It considers the major theories of human development as they relate to people with and without disabilities and career theories with a focus on the concept of choice. The book addresses specific developmental stages including a description of developmental tasks, risks, disability applications, specific disabilities common to a particular stage, and cultural and ethical issues, all supported by case examples. Key Features: Fulfills the required CORE mandated course on human growth and development and the disability experience. Addresses disability across the lifespan in relation to developmental stages. Authored by highly respected expert in disability studies.

Rural School Turnaround and Reform Coby V. Meyers, Marlene J. Darwin, 2022-01-01. We have entitled the fourth book in the series Rural School Turnaround and Reform. It's hard work overall. The body of scholarly work and research that examines school turnaround and reform in rural areas is slim, as such, this volume adds to the body of work and contributes to new knowledge in a much needed area. In this volume, we present chapters that speak to the challenges, successes, and opportunities to improve low performing rural schools. Chapters range from conceptual arguments to policy analyses or research findings, as well as some combination of these or other ways to consider rural school turnaround and reform.

Barriers to Inclusion Justin J. W. Powell, 2015-12-03. Barriers to Inclusion offers a comparative and historical account of the rise of special education over the twentieth century in the United States and Germany. This institutional analysis demonstrates how categorical boundaries, professional groups, social movements, and education and social policies shaped the schooling of children and youth with disabilities. It traces the evolution of special education classification, explores growing special education organizations, and examines students' learning opportunities and educational attainments. Highlighting cross-national differences over time, the author also investigates demographic and geographic variability within the federal democracies, especially in segregation and inclusion rates of disabled and disadvantaged children. Germany's elaborate system of segregated special school types contrasts with diverse American special education classrooms, mainly within regular schools. Joining historical case studies with empirical indicators, this book reveals persistent barriers to school integration, as well as factors that facilitate inclusive education reform in both societies.

Self and Identity Through the Life Course in Cross-Cultural Perspective Timothy J. Owens, 2000. This volume represents a new name and a new focus for its predecessor Current Perspectives on Aging and the Life Cycle, volumes 1-4. We begin our new series now titled Advances in Life Course Research with volume 5. Its statement of purpose is the publication of theoretical analyses, reviews, policy analyses, and positions, and theory-based empirical papers on issues involving all aspects of the human life course. It adopts a broad conception of the life course and invites and welcomes contributions from all disciplines and fields of study interested in understanding, describing, and predicting the antecedents of and consequences for the course that human lives take from birth to death within and across time and cultures construed in its broadest sense regardless of methodology theoretical orientation or disciplinary affiliation
